

WE NOMINATE

Guy Arthur Bensinger, an inspirational Princeton "tradition" for the past three decades, who has been awarded one of the highest honors that can be conferred upon a community-minded citizen—Life Membership in the International Association of Lions Clubs. While the actual presentation, originally scheduled for the evening of Monday, November 9th, has been postponed into the New Year because of Bensinger's recent hospitalization, this week's announcement by Lions Club officers accentuated all that their distinguished colleague has succeeded in accomplishing since he rejected the possibility of an engineering career and elected to devote his life to the service of others.

A charter member and twice president of the energetic Princeton Lions Club, which was brought into being a quarter-century ago, this 59-year old native of Ashland, Pa., personifies Lionism's cryptic slogan, "(L)iberty, (I)ntelligence, (O)ur (N)ation's (S)afety." As the Lion movement has developed into the world's largest service organization of business and professional men, Bensinger has held a succession of high Lion posts. For 10 years he was New Jersey State Chaplain and in 1940-41 was elevated to the District Governorship of New Jersey. He is now an International Counsellor, a position Lionism reserves for demonstrated leaders of an association that draws its membership from some 30 nations.

In characteristic fashion, Bensinger, a member of the Lafayette College Class of 1918, interrupted his studies in order to volunteer for overseas service with the Allied Forces. After qualifying for his Lafayette degree in 1919, he turned to the Presbyterian ministry. He enrolled at Princeton Theological Seminary, graduating in 1925, the same spring he also received the degree of Master of Arts in Philosophy from Princeton University.

It was as a "student pastor" that Bensinger actually entered upon his life's work. He fell in love with his present parish while studying at the seminary and in May, 1924, was named Minister of the historic Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church. Bensinger, a Selective Service Board Member during World War II and a referee of the relatively new West Windsor Township Court of Juvenile and Domestic Relations, has never attempted to limit his interest to any one geographic area as is indicated by a partial listing of his positions of past service: Supply Service Chairman, Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross; Commander, Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion; Chaplain, New Jersey Sons of the American Revolution; National Commander and National Chaplain, U.S. Army Ambulance Association.

For helping create and foster "generous consideration for one's fellow men;" for practicing the principles of sound citizenship that are the surest safeguards of the American way of life; for constantly hoping that "I can do something more;" he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Topics of the Town

Belief in the Present. History through the centuries has recorded the fact that mankind is opposed to change. At the polls on Tuesday, Princetonians wrote a page for the past when they voted by a margin of 3 to 2 not to change the system of dual municipal government that has been in effect here for well over 100 years.

It was a convincing demonstration of belief on the part of residents of both borough and township that they are satisfied with what they have, and that they feel there is a risk in tampering with the future. It is a wholly understandable facet of human nature, and those who favored consolidation knew that it was the biggest road block confronting them.

Princeton today is an extremely satisfactory place in which to live, and hundreds of its residents felt that it might become less so if they approved a change. Consolidation was beaten largely because, whatever the weight of the arguments of its backers on the need for looking ahead to the future, they could not sell against the firm conception that in its present form this is one of the nation's finest residential communities.

Time and Tide. Candidates for all offices felt the tug and pull of a heavy rip tide coursing through the electorate. The Democrats, sweeping the state by a majority of better than 200,000 at the gubernatorial level, were aided by the heavy turnout backing the bingo referendum. Here in Princeton, the parking ordinance was the major factor in unseating Council President John A. Archer, while in the township, successful Democratic candidate Richard H. Wood was aided by the rift that has split Republican ranks for the past two years. Mr. Wood, incidentally, is the first member of his party to win in that municipality within memory.

Almost as unanticipated as the majority by which consolidation and parking were beaten was the Democratic victory at the local level—the party had no candidates in last April's primaries. Richard W. Colman, Jr. and Raymond F. Male in the borough, Mr. Wood in the township, qualified after a last-minute write-in campaign.

Voting on issues and candidates in both Princeton municipalities could be clearly traced along sectional lines. Borough districts one and eight gave consolidation and parking their only affirmative margins; in the township, consolidation gained its lone majority (12 votes) in the third district.

Defeated council candidates Archer and Walter B. Jefferson both carried the first and the eighth districts, with Mr. Jefferson also winning the seventh. In the Township, Mr. Wood took the first, third and fourth, to offset Frederick J. Worthington's big second district lead by the slim margin of 46 votes.

(District-by-district votes on all candidates and referendums are given in these columns.)

Democrats won all county races, as they have almost without exception for the past five years. Freeholder Edward A. Thorne was re-elected to a third term with a plurality of nearly 20,000, virtually double his 1950 margin. Both he and Meyner carried the borough, clearly indicative of the strength of the 1953 political winds.

Arthur S. Lane, former Princeton resident, ran well ahead of his

It's New to Us

Ardena Comes to Princeton. The complete line of Elizabeth Arden products, the Ardena line, is now available at the Artistic Hairdressers, 352 Nassau. This simple announcement carries some human interest with it because Elizabeth Arden does not usually sell her complete cosmetic line through small local outlets.

However, Margaret Jeffries, the owner of Artistic, spent two and a half years as hairdresser with the Arden salon. Because of this, and because Miss Arden thought Princeton was such a pleasant little town, she gave her Ardena preparations to Artistic.

The line is complete, and includes such new items as Basic Sheen to wear under powder, "Invisible Veil," a solid compact powder that gives a soft mat finish, and hormone creams for women who are no longer teen-agers.

A representative from the Arden salon will spend a week at Artistic soon to demonstrate the use of Ardena products. Artistic suggests that you watch for a future announcement.

Christmas Glitter. What to do with Christmas cards? Don't throw them away—hang them instead on a 70-inch felt "bell-pull," lavishly decorated in the most festive Christmas manner. These bell-pulls are made by two Princeton ladies and sold locally through The Town Shop, 67 Palmer Square West. In New York, they sell at Bergdorf's where they are now in the window; Georg Jensen, and the Gift Shop at the Waldorf.

The felt strips come in nine different colors—shocking pink, pale pink, gold, and the usual Christmas reds and greens. At the top is a scroll-like fold with spangled Christmas balls at each end, and about six inches of the most enchanting glitter you could imagine: minute boxes wrapped in gold paper, tiny trees covered with sequins, stars, pink shells and pearls. Below the decoration the felt goes straight and unadorned for you to fill with your cards.

These "pulls" are not mass produced, and so the quantity is necessarily limited. It might be wise to pick one up now before the postman actually brings a card to your door.

Jigger Cheese. Once upon a time the empty cheese glass was used wholesomely for a child's breakfast orange juice. Now they are packing cheese in jiggers and anything can happen.

We found a circle of 12 jigger glasses packed with Cocktail Delight process cheese spread at the Union Food Market, 205 Witherspoon. It contains six different cheeses, including a Swiss process, Roquefort, Camembert and "sharp," with two jiggers to each cheese.

On the outside of each glass is a black dog—one breed to a glass, most of them hunting dogs. The wheel of 12 is $2.95.

French's Instant Mashed Potato comes in a box like processed rice. Convenient for making small infant portions, convenient when you are in a hurry. Serves ten.

The Arnold bread people are now baking Butter Crumpets, a big soft muffin, split in the middle. Looks like a hamburger roll that somebody sat on. With a Crumpet you can make small pizzas, eggs Benedict, or simply a piece of good toast. Four split muffins for 25c and why not a few packages in your freezer for the future?

Did you know that the Union Food Market is modernizing itself? It has been converted to self-service.

ticket here, taking the township by 600 votes and the borough by 800. In the county, however, he lost by more than 16,000 to Mercer's new state senator, Sido L. Ridolfi, who is also a Princeton alumnus.

Toward a Unified Future. With the consolidation issue set aside for at least two years by law and probably considerably longer than that in view of the impact of Tuesday's decision, Princeton now goes back to its existence as a single community. It was the hope of those who favored merger that, had it been approved, the opposition would have accepted the outcome without rancor. Having lost, certainly the pro-consolidationists can take defeat in the same spirit they had hoped would be forthcoming if steps were about to be taken to create one municipality. The issue, understandably big and regrettably one that caused rancor, now dissolves before others that will always be larger. In a single community, without thought to whether they have one or two governments, Princetonians can now devote full time to working for a living, raising their children, looking ahead to Thanksgiving and Christmas, and planning and praying for a world at peace.

A graduate of Princeton in 1930, Mr. Shaw has been with this department of New Jersey government for the past 22 years.

Smith Club to Meet. The Smith College Club of Princeton will hold its fall meeting Thursday evening, November 12, at the home of Mrs. Gordon Knox, 55 Mountain Avenue. The speaker will be Mrs. Sidney A. Cook, Warden of Smith College since 1944 and former head of its Alumnae Association. Mrs. Cook will also speak Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Alice W. Smith, 50 Hodge Road, at a meeting for prospective Smith students.

Plans for the club's annual auction will be discussed at the meeting. Mrs. Dwight North will head the committee in charge.

Safety Measure. Patrolman Frank Bird, the borough's safety officer, has asked motorists not to park in the three spaces near the Nassau Street Elementary School where the meters are "bagged." These three stalls, near the crosswalk, are being closed five days a week from 8 to 3:30 as a safety precaution.

Patrolman Bird also reminds parents that their children should be left and called for on the William Street side of the school.

Under no circumstances, he adds, should drivers double park on Nassau Street.

Rummage Sale Plans. A space problem in the Chambers Street firehouse has resulted in new plans for the Hospital Aid Committee's annual fall rummage sale. Mrs. Samuel Atkins, committee president, has reported that because the fire engines cannot be moved from the building during the sale, this schedule will be in effect:

On Tuesday, November 17, from 11 to 5, and Wednesday, November 18, from 9 to 5, furniture, toys, kitchenware, books, lamps, pictures and records will be sold. Thursday, November 19, from 9 to 5, is the sale day for all clothing, shoes, china, glassware, linens, curtains, pocketbooks, jewelry, etc.

$100,000 in Sports Cars. The Princeton Shopping Center site will be the scene of an exhibition of sports cars valued at over $100,000 this Saturday and Sunday. Over 20 makes and models, headed by a Pegaso selling for $15,000, will be in the show.

Frank Chambers, president of the Delaware Valley Sports Car Club, has announced that the show will be open to the public and that several tests of driving skill have been arranged. These events are open to all sports car enthusiasts, while the public is invited to attend the show without charge.

In the event of rain, the show will be held in the large building at the north end of the area. Theodore R. Potts, developer of the Shopping Center, has announced that the sports car show is the first of a series of events to be held there during the coming months.

School Savings. The Princeton Savings and Loan Association has opened a "thrift education" program here and students in West Windsor and Penns Neck public schools have already been invited to take part in a School Savings Association.

The schools have endorsed the program, under which the students are encouraged to make a deposit each week. The plan is designed to foster savings habits, budgeting and planning for the future. National figures show that as of last June, 3,450,000 students had school savings accounts totaling $113,000,000.

Annual Giving campaign with two record goals ahead of them: a fund of $1,000,000 and 70 per cent participation. Last year 65 per cent of the alumni raised $657,000 to drive seeks to break.

Annual Giving was originated to provide unrestricted funds to be used for strengthening the University's educational program. The additional money being sought this year will go into all departments of the University, but will be applied primarily to reducing the wide gap between faculty salaries and the cost of living, according to Sidney Lanier '24, chairman of the campaign.

Alumni living in Princeton over-subscribed their regional goal by 48 per cent, contributing $22,775. The 525 gifts were excelled only by New York, Philadelphia and Washington and these cities failed to reach Princeton's 90 per cent participation.

Fire Engine Needed. The Griggstown Volunteer Fire Department is sponsoring a square dance next Saturday, November 14, with the proceeds to go towards the purchase of a sorely-needed new fire engine. The dance will be held from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 in the River Road Armory with music and calling provided by Walt Wengyn and his band. Admission is $1.

The volunteer company, incorporated in 1946, is now operating with a 1926 American-La France engine obtained three years ago from Pennington. This museum-piece replaced the company's first apparatus, a 1924 Brockway La-France. The dance is the first step in raising the funds for a modern apparatus.

Unit Meetings. November unit meetings planned by the League of Women Voters will consider the practices of Congressional investigating committees and resolutions introduced in Congress to improve such procedure. Discussion will center on the purposes and methods of investigations, as well as what constitutes a worthwhile investigation.

The meetings, open to the public, will be held on this schedule: Monday, 8:15 p.m., Mrs. J. S. Corrigan, Snowden Lane; Tuesday, 9:30 a.m., Mrs. Emerson H. Swift, 148 Harrison Street; Tuesday, 8:15 p.m., Mrs. William Z. Abrams, 35 University Place; Wednesday, 10 a.m., Mrs. James Thorpe, 50 Springdale Road; Wednesday, 8:15 p.m., Mrs. Norman Williams, 74

Recreational Activities. A variety of adult activities will be offered during the fall and winter by the YMCA. Raymond F. Male, chairman of the Y's Program Council, has announced. Team entries in volleyball are still being accepted, with Isaiah Fisher in charge of this activity.

A volleyball club open to men on Monday nights from 8 to 10 is under the direction of Donald Rugg. while facilities for weight-lifting may be used daily from 10 to 5 and in the evening from 7 to 10:30. Punching bags, rowing machines, skip rope and tumbling mats are also available. Charles A. Hurford heads the Y's physical education committee.

A completely equipped dark room is open at the Y, with individual use possible. Plans are also being made to form a photography club.

Bridge classes for beginners and advanced players are being started in cooperation with the YWCA. These meet the first and third Monday evenings of each month; square dancing, another joint YM-YWCA project, is scheduled on the second and fourth Mondays. Full details may be obtained at either YMCA center, 120 John Street or 102 Witherspoon Street.

New Facilities at Hun. New recreational facilities have been provided at The Hun School this year, it was announced this week by Dr. Paul R. Chesebro, headmaster. All-weather courts for outdoor sports have been completed behind the school's main building to give students a chance to exercise throughout the year. Tennis, basketball and volleyball will be played.

A recreation room is currently being finished in the basement of the main building to provide ping-pong tables, shuffleboard courts and a television set. It will also house the bookstore and supply room, student-operated under faculty supervision.

X-Ray Locations. The schedule for the visit of the mobile x-ray unit to Princeton during the week of November 9-13 has been announced: November 9, Chambers Street firehouse; 10 and 11, Witherspoon Street firehouse; 12, Witherspoon Street YW.C.A., and 13, Chestnut Street firehouse. Hours for the free x-rays will be from 9 to 12, 1 to 5 and 7 to 9.

The practice of moving the mobile unit about the community during the week has been instituted in an effort to increase the number of people who avail themselves of the opportunity. The Central Jersey Health District has reported that for the fifth straight year Mercer County has the highest prevalence of tuberculosis of the state's 21 counties.

Miscellany. The Post Office will be closed next Wednesday, Armistice Day, and there will be no mail deliveries except for special delivery. The lobby will be open all day for the convenience of box holders. The same procedure will be in effect on November 26, Thanksgiving Day.

A life-size painting of "Christ in Gethsemane" by Rex Goreligh, director of Princeton Group Arts, has been given to the First Baptist Church. A reproduction, the painting was done in oil on wood panel and has been placed over the baptismal pool behind the pulpit. The Rev. Dr. William T. Parker, is now in his 24th year as the church's pastor.

The six and a half-year old Lutheran Church of the Messiah has purchased the vacant property across from the church on Nassau Street to provide for possible future expansion. No definite plans for the property's use have been made, but the 180-member congregation will consider possibilities such as a parsonage, parking lot, parish hall, Christian day school, or a new church with the present building serving as a parish hall. The transaction was completed through Walter B. Howe, Inc.

"Lichine Selection." Wines bearing this title are known to everyone who watches for superb quality in Bordeaux and Burgundys. The Wine and Game Shop, 6 Nassau, now has some fine wines selected by Alexis Lichine, author of "Wines of France" and owner of vineyards in Burgundy and Bordeaux.

Marceault-Blagny is a white Burgundy you'll want ('47) and Montrachet, another white Burgundy is one of the finest white Burgundys to come out of France. From the famous Chateau Haut-Brion a rare white Bordeaux, 1950.

In the red wines try a Medoc: Saint Estephe, vintage '49 or the Saint Julien, 1949.

None of these wines comes from large-scale commercial production. They are Estate Wines, bottled by the growers, some of them produced by small growers whose entire holdings may be only an acre or two. They are priced around $3 and $4 a bottle at Wine and Game.

• Heel, Toe and Away We Go. Buy a pair of children's anklets at Hulfish's, 140 Nassau, and you'll be glad to wear them yourself. Nylon in a new and stretching weave is responsible. Examined closely, the weave looks like a fine and complex kind of twist. A casual glance shows an anklet closely knit with a look and feel like fine, light-weight cotton.

These socks have been made in three size ranges. The smallest covers sizes 6 through 7½. The other two cover everything from there through size 11. These socks are magic: you put on a small stocking that obviously belongs to a child's foot and it fits you like skin. This means that budgets will stretch, even as the sock.

Nylon wears almost indefinitely so one pair of anklets should last your child years and years. Well—a long while, anyhow.

Colors are white, navy and brown with plain cuff. Priced at 89c a pair.

It shook us to find Rudolph the Rednosed Reindeer, hold as life, on a November afternoon, but there he was. On a very small-sized slipper sock called a Muk-Luk, with a bell dangling from his collar.

Other slipper socks for children resemble Indian maidens, cowboys, cowgirls and even slipper socks. This Indian maiden has leatherish fringe all around her edges. There's a Thunderbird with fringe, too, but the cowboy is plain. Small girls' sizes are very feminine this year: designs like older sister's, if she wants them that way.

Other slipper socks there have been cut low, ankle-bone height, to make them comfortable in warm rooms. Navy or gray ribbing makes a plain, good-looking one for men.

All the socks by Ripon have foam rubber soles, by the way, and price-tags reduced from last year's. Children's Ripons are $2.50, ladies' $2.95 and men's $2.95 or $3.50—down about 50 cents from 1952.

Dresses - 3D. A dress house called Mixx Modes has thought up a new way to sell its junior-size dresses—or any size, for that matter. They have sent to Mary Gill, 230 Nassau, a three-dimension Viewer and a set of 18 color slides.

Most of the dresses shown on these slides are short cocktail and party dresses. You just relax on a Mary Gill chair, look through the Viewer at the professional model and pick out the ones you want. All are available at Mary Gill, prices ranging from $14.95 to $35.

Office or social groups may borrow the Viewer for a day or two, by arranging dates with the Shop. It's a pleasant way to occupy a 15-minute rest-period, and a comfortable way for busy people to shop.

To Men ONLY!

MEN: Ever stop to think how much time the little woman spends washing and wiping dishes? Why not give her a break . . . and yourself too, if you're on the dishwashing squad . . . by taking the work out of washing and wiping with a KitchenAid . . . the completely automatic home dishwasher.

With KitchenAid, you simply load tableware into the two convenient, easy-sliding racks. Then latch the door, flip the switch and presto . . . tableware is washed, rinsed and dried. Nothing to it! Remember, it's "front-opening."

"Powered-water" washing; 2 complete rinses in hot water; circulated hot air drying; sanitary, self-cleaning; gentle, thorough action are a few of the many KitchenAid advantages you'll like. Front-opening door leaves counter top space clear for greater neatness and working-space efficiency. Why not cut your "kitchen time" with KitchenAid? See our demonstration Model KD-20 only $374.95 plus installation. Also available: Model KD-10 for built-in under-counter installation, $339.95 plus installation.

Model KD-30 combination 48" modern sink and dishwasher, $475.00 plus installation. Convenient, easy terms.

Music in Princeton
Illuminating Concert. To a good many musicians and concert-goers, music "before Bach" still seems a dark, unknown province peopled by a few dimly recognizable figures and a host of monks grimly singing Gregorian chant. For this reason one may refer to Tuesday evening's concert at McCarter Theatre by the Pro Musica Antiqua as an experience both of illumination and of rich musical value.
This remarkable ensemble is entirely devoted to Medieval and Renaissance music; it consists of five singers and as many instrumentalists (playing appropriate old instruments) and achieves a truly professional caliber of performance. Credit here is mainly due to Safford Cape, director of the ensemble, who combines a scholar's knowledge of the music with fine artistic taste, and whose conducting communicated a sense of beauty both to the performers and to the audience.

The music presented was a varied selection of vocal works and instrumental dances ranging from the 13th to the 16th century. A real discussion of the musical developments represented would take many volumes, let alone the scope of this review. Let it suffice to note that, aside from Spain and Germany, every center of musical activity was shown at least in small degree, and, concomitantly, a number of great masters, such as Guillaume Dufay, Josquin des Prez, Orlando di Lasso, and Claudio Monteverdi.

The chansons of Dufay and Josquin's "Deploiation on the death of Ockeghem" might be cited as works of extraordinary expressive power, a quality which may have surprised the unfamiliar listener; Monteverdi's powerfully dissonant "Zefiro torna" probably came also as something of a shock. The dances and other instrumental pieces of all periods, naturally tending more toward regular patterns than the often complex vocal music, were nicely interspersed throughout the program and offered moments of pure delight.

A characteristic contrast of timbre within a single piece tended to mark the Medieval vocal music, as opposed to the more purely vocal character of some of the 16th century pieces in which the expressive quality of the words assumed paramount importance. The ensemble displayed a skill in handling such differences in style (as well as many more subtle contrasts) which might be likened to that of a string quartet which plays Mozart and Bartok with equal insight.

Though the ensemble as a whole is an integrated music unit and deserves uniform praise, particular mention should be made of the contralto, Jeanne Deroubaix. Her singing was invariably rich in expression and tone, and, most rare, beautifully in tune. Her performance like that of the others revealed a sense of devotion to the music which is not always forthcoming even among concert artists.

As a special kind of musical ensemble, the Pro Musica Antiqua requires a special sort of appreciation. In bringing to the public a world of music from earlier eras they fulfill as much an artistic as (let us not shun the word) an educational mission. In giving audible realization to Medieval and Renaissance music they bring us closer to an understanding of the cultures that have passed into our own.

News of the Theatres

Re-View. Notice is hereby given to those who passed up the film "Forbidden Games" and/or the Theatre Intime's "Evening of Readings" that they should be on the lookout for return engagements. The French film was a stunner, operating powerfully on multiple levels; of readily-grasped tragedy and comedy, of psychology, philosophy and others. Brigitte Fossey, a 5-year old who played the orphaned girl, gave one of the most superb performances ever screened.

Professors Edward Hubler, D. W. Robertson Jr. and Willard Thorp understandably excelled the undergraduates at the readings, but the overall interest and enjoyment generated by the performances and selections call for another such program. Dan Seltzer and William Nicoson were the best of the undergraduate readers. Peggy Allison, in company with Mr. Seltzer, provided great fun with the selections from "The Taming of the Shrew."

MURRAY THEATRE

Arms and the Man, one of George Bernard Shaw's best, will be the opening play of the Theatre Intime season. The comedy opens next Thursday, November 12, for a run through the 21st. Tickets are now on sale by phone or mail at the University Store (3333).

Mihailo Vouketchivitch (as Bluntschli) and Mrs. Rayna Barroll of 224-A Marshall Street (Raina), Morton Goolde (Sergius), Miss Eileen Heupel (Louka), Mrs. Rachel Kruskal of Belle Mead (Katharine) and Sandy McNally (Petkoff) head the cast for Shaw's look at Balkan warfare. Barry Knowler is the director and Ben Piazza the producer.

CHILDREN'S ENTERTAINMENTS

An expanded Children's Entertainment Series for the coming year has been planned by the Borough Elementary Schools PTA. Season tickets for the five attractions planned today priced at $1.50, $2.50 and $4.50, or single tickets at $.35, $.75 and $1.25 may be obtained by writing Mrs. Samuel D. Atkins, 78 Alexander Street.

Harold Lloyd in the 1922 film "Grandma's Boy" will open the season on December 1-2 at the high school auditorium. Two plays by the Children's World Theatre, a program of Indian lore and a special children's program by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra and the Princeton Ballet Society Children's Group are also planned. The series is designed for children in grades one through eight.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Torch Song (Thurs. - Sat.) finds Joan Crawford in the role of an aging musical star. She emotes steadily in the stereotyped part: being talented, impossible to work with, a complete fashion show, etc. Michael Wilding as a blind pianist finally brings her to terms. Some of the many musical numbers are good, but you'll have to be among those who enjoy what amounts to a solo by Miss Crawford.

The Actress (Sun. - Tues.) is a family story, filled with striving, heartbreak and comedy, excellently acted by Spencer Tracy, Jean Simmons and Teresa Wright. Miss Simmons plays a 17-year old who is stage-struck, a yearning opposed by the serious-minded New England society in the early years of this century, represented by Mr. Tracy and Miss Wright as her parents. The outcome is commonly

Even Up. Not since the late '30's have the members of the Big Three been as evenly matched as they are on the eve of their annual round-robin, now so traditional that it has entered its fourth quarter-century. The opening clash in the series is set for Soldiers Field, Cambridge, on Saturday with Princeton and Harvard in the opposing roles, while round two Palmer Stadium, November 14, Princeton vs. Yale—is expected to play to standing room only.

After Princeton and Harvard resumed action in 1934, Yale, Princeton, Yale, Harvard and then Princeton took Big Three honors in that order. Then came the war, Harvard's withdrawal from intercollegiate athletics, with first Yale and then Princeton dominating the post-war scene.

The Tigers are now after their 7th straight title, but for the first time since 1949, their rivals are conceded close to an even chance of trimming them. If the Orange and Black for even the briefest time this weekend looks ahead to its meeting with Yale, it is entirely likely to be sandbagged within the towering confines of Soldiers' Field.

The Crimson has lost only once this season—to Columbia by a narrow 6-0 margin. It holds victories over little Ohio University and Davidson, as well as over Colgate and Dartmouth teams that are getting better all the time.

Harvard's strength is in the back-field, where a pair of top-flight passers and a bruising, 215-lb. fullback give it a good one-two punch. Its ace is Captain Dick Clasby, a triple-threat who runs well and throws accurately.

Behind him is Carroll Lowenstein, a lithe but extremely light (155-lb.) seatback who connected for five touchdowns passes in the 42-6 rout of Davidson last week. Clashy sat out most of the contest with a bruised shoulder. Lowenstein, incidentally, had nearly three years of varsity football at Harvard before going into service for two years but was ruled eligible for another season by the Ivy League.

John Culver is a good fullback for the Crimson, with 177-lb. Frank White the wingback. The Crimson, which uses the same offense as the Tigers, lost Bob Hardy, a good blocking back and field general, with a fractured elbow in the game last week. This is a major setback which may make considerable difference on Saturday.

Princeton's hope for victory lies

Broadcasts from Harvard

Two stations in this area will broadcast the Princeton-Harvard game from Cambridge on Saturday, for which a 1:30 kickoff is scheduled. Station KYW of Philadelphia (1060 on the dial) will carry a play-by-play account.

The University radio station, WPRU, will also broadcast from Soldiers' Field. Princetonians living near the campus are occasionally able to pick up this station on their sets (540 on the dial.)

largely in its ability to stop Harvard's aerial attack and in continued improvement in its line play. The Yale game, too, will be decided primarily up front, where the Ellis' 207-lb. line will have a tremendous 14-pound weight advantage over the Tigers.

Tigers Roll Against Brown. A considerably improved blocking performance put wheels under the Tiger in the 27-13 triumph over Brown last Saturday. The ground game rolled for 317 yards—three times as much as it had against Columbia—while the passing attack was good for spot gains and one touchdown despite its inconsistency.

Princeton controlled the game throughout most of the afternoon but got itself in trouble through its still inexperienced pass defense. Brown scored first on a play that covered 57 yards, the Tiger secondary chasing decoys wide as Dave Zucconi raced down the middle alley and completed a solo canter into the end zone.

Charlie Caldwell says is the festest broken-field runner he has seen since Albie Booth) took the second scoring pass on a play that covered 68 yards shortly before the half ended. It was fortunate for the Tigers that Brown could not shake him loose again, for he was a tremendous threat with his speed and shiftiness.

Brown moved out to a 6-0 lead before the Tigers traveled 69 yards to tie the score. Roy Flippin, who had his best day of the season, went through left tackle from point blank range but the conversion attempt was wide.

Joe Grotto, sophomore tackle, recovered a fumble on the visitors' 31 mid-way through the second quarter and five plays later, Dick Frye raced around right end from two yards out to score. Joe Di Renzo's placement was good but Brown's retaliatory touchdown came quickly and the teams left the field for the intermission tied at 13-all.

The third quarter produced Princeton's best football of the season. Moving 67 yards in a dozen plays and 45 in half that number, the Tigers scored twice to take a commanding lead. Smith hammered across the middle to earn the first of these touchdowns. Bill Ledger caught a 22-yard pass from Roy Flippin beautifully while on the Yale's solid upset by Dartmouth has made a five-way scramble of the Ivy League race. These two teams, plus Princeton, Cornell and Harvard all have a chance to take the title, with Penn counted out because it plays only one Ivy League opponent (Cornell) this season. The standings:

PRINCETON	2	1	0
Yale	2	1	1
Columbia	1	3	0

dead run deep in the end zone for the second.

Martin's conversion secured one extra point and Frye passed to Smith for the other. In the nine-minute gale of 1950, Dick Kazmaier sloshed through two inches of water for an extra point against Dartmouth but otherwise it has been many a year since Princeton scored a p.a.t. without resorting to a place-kick.

Neither team scored in the final period, Brown coming closest when it was awarded a first down inside the Tiger ten for a defensive holding penalty against Princeton. Art Pitts intercepted a wobbly pass behind his own goal line and ran it

Tigers Lead on Offense

Although its attack has not been consistent this season, Princeton leads the Ivy League in three major departments. Moving for 417 yards against Brown, the Tigers raised their first-place average on team offense to 308 yards per game.

Sophomore tailback Roy Flippin is first in individual total offense with 690 yards, while Homer Smith, who picked up 150 yards last week, is tops in rushing with 438. The Princeton captain's 31 points scored and punting average of 39.8 also place him near the top in these departments.

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

out to the 12 to end the threat.

The losers netted only 59 yards and four first downs in the second half, as Charlie Caldwell's operatives took complete charge. In the decisive third period, Princeton put the ball in motion on 21 of the 30 plays run off, clear indication of single wing control.

As much as anything else, it was the quick recovery of Art Pitts from a lacerated scalp sustained in the Cornell game that put the Tigers on the winning trail. Pitts is a surprisingly good signal caller for a player who has been used largely on defense and has run on offense only as a fullback. He also blocks well and adds much to the ability of the defensive secondary.

On the fourth play of the game, he encountered the exact blow on the head from an opposing player's knee that had sidelined him in the Cornell game. This time, however, he was out of action only during the first period, returning to direct all four touchdown drives.

Sophomore tackle Joe Grotto is a likely starter at Cambridge, pairing with Pete Milano. George Kovatch, from whom so much was heard solely on defense last year, has had trouble with blocking assignments and Grotto's all-around ability appeals to the coaching staff. He is unusually fast for his size (190 lbs., 6-1.)

Don Cunard, last year's freshman captain, has also won a starting berth, pairing with Blair Torrey. Joe Di Renzo is a third sophomore who will see increasing action, but seniors Bill Ledger and Harvey Mathis remain the starting ends.

Ray Pinch, a sophomore tailback, is being converted to wingback to fill the gap caused by Dick Yaffa's absence and injuries to Earl Byrne and Bob Russell. The latter is expected back this weekend, and will share the duties with Frank Agnew. Agnew, too, is gaining in experience and carried eight times for a good 5.8 average.

If its pass defense is constantly in hot water, Princeton will lose on Saturday. Clabby and Lowenstein will be pitching constantly and the Tigers, still vulnerable in this department, may have trouble.

On a basis of ability to give a solid performance, however, Princeton is the logical choice to win. Its running game figures to be considerably stronger than Harvard's, with Homer Smith rounding into top form and Roy Flippin beginning to rank as a real threat. Harvard's loss of its quarterback is not to be discounted; no Ivy League team is deep enough not to drop off in efficiency when a key player is sidelined.

In common with a great many football games in this uncertain season, the result could go either way by a margin of as much as two or three touchdowns. Despite injuries and inexperience, however, there are indications that the familiar solid November ball team is rounding into shape here and has a good chance of running in front on Saturday.

Somerville Halts PHS. With its winning streak broken at three last week by Somerville, 14-6, Princeton High will take on Long Branch this Saturday afternoon at 2.

The Little Tigers jumped to an early lead over the unbeaten defending Central Jersey Group III champs, only to see the Pioneers strike back in the second half for a pair of touchdowns.

Princeton tallied early in the opening period when Marvin Trotman picked up a Somerville fumble on the Pioneer 42 and raced into the end zone. It wasn't until after intermission that the home forces could put together a sustained march, but then they went 61 yards in nine plays to lead 7-6. With the ball on the Princeton 16, Sam Crosby circled left end for the score and Bob Ujobagy converted.

Another nine-play drive, this time for 52 yards, set up the second Somerville touchdown, as Bob Lusardi took a handoff from Crosby on the 19 and went over standing up. Ujobagy converted again. Late in the period, a pass interception by Somerville's Tony Capici halted the Little Tigers on the Pioneers' 5.

Rain Forces Postponement. Inclement weather last Thursday forced the postponement of one Country Day contest until next week and the canceling of another. The Blue and White booters have moved their game with the Witherspoon Street School back to this coming week.

The six-man football game with Solebury has been cancelled, but the Country Day squad will take on a Lambertville team, which blanked it 34-0 previously, Thursday afternoon.

Hun Faces Solebury. Hun School will face Solebury at New Hope Saturday, still looking for its first football victory after dropping a tough one-point decision Monday to the Lawrenceville jayvees. It was a 13-12 final.

The victors took a 13-point lead in the first half but Hun struck back for its first score in the third period. Captain Vic Perone passed to Frank Walsh for 25 yards and then ran through tackle for 19 more to reach the end zone.

With the clock running out, Perone carried five straight times from his own 43 to score again, going over on a four-yard buck. Both conversions failed, however, in the form of attempted passes, whereas Lawrenceville had made one of its two placekicks.

NEWS OF THE THEATRES

known as "heart-warming." Ruth Gordon's screenplay is from her stage play "Years Ago."

Blowing Wild (Wed. - Sat.), rescheduled, explodes continuously as a story about oil wild-catters, bandits and assorted violence in Mexico, accompanied by some love interest. Gary Cooper, Anthony Quinn, Ward Bond, Barbara Stanwyck and Ruth Roman are the principals and things happen so fast that you may not notice how silly the story is at times. Frankie Laine sings the title song in the background fashion of "High Noon." Filmed in Mexico.

THE GARDEN

China Venture (Fri. - Sat.) is a wartime melodrama set in interior China, 1945. Edmond O'Brien and Barry Sullivan lead a Marine-Navy unit into the jungle to reach Chinese guerillas. A number of obstacles provide some action, but the film is put together in standard fashion.

The Secret of Convict Lake. (Mon. - Tues.), made in 1951, surprised with its suspenseful pace and taut, rugged story. Six escaped convicts head for a snow-bound mountain settlement where they bicker among themselves over supposed hidden loot and provide a continual menace to the women of the settlement, whose husbands are away prospecting. Glen Ford, Zachary Scott, Gene Tierney and Ethel Barrymore head a strong cast.

Sailor of the King (Wed.-Thurs.), made from a C. S. Forester novel about herosim at sea, has a sort of double-plot. Michael Rennie plays a British naval officer and Jeffrey Hunter his son by a brief romance. Unaware of the relationship, they both are heroic in an action against a German raider in World War II. Fine sea photography of the British Mediterranean fleet helps the rather sentimental saga. Wendy Hiller is the lady in question.

Elastic Hosiery

FULL-FOOTED

You do not have to wear a second pair of hose over our ELASTIC HOSIERY. This eliminates unattractive bulkiness and unsightly wrinkles.

SHEER

Knit of nylon and rubber with mercerized cotton and nylon cuff, NEW ELASTIC Hosiery is hardly discernible from service-weight nylons.

FORM-FITTED

NEW ELASTIC HOSIERY is shaped in fashion to fit snugly at the heel and ankle, to give firm two-way stretch support over the calf. They are cool, comfortable and attractive on the leg.
